W. Ian Thomas was born in London, England. At the age of twelve, he was invited by a friend to spend a week at a Christian camp for boys that was a part of the ministry of the Crusaders Union. Upon hearing the gospel clearly explained, Ian gladly accepted Christ as his Savior and Lord.

Later, while preparing for the possibility of becoming a missionary doctor, Ian answered the call to be an evangelist and ministered Christ throughout the British Isles. Six years later, he served his country as an army officer in World War II. On his release from the military and with deep concern for the effect of the war years on the youth, in 1947, Ian established a Christian Youth Centre at Capernwray Hall. He was soon visited by British and other nationalities, including Germans, who became true Christians and called themselves "Torchbearers." There are now twenty-six Torchbearers Centres and Bible Schools worldwide.

Godliness . . . is the direct and exclusive consequence of God's activity in man.

—W. Ian Thomas
The Mystery of Godliness

The Mystery of Godliness

Experiencing Christ in Us

In The Mystery of Godliness, founder of Torchbearers and acclaimed author W. Ian Thomas lays bare the reality of our weakness without God. While godliness may be a mystery, Thomas makes it clear that this is what God intends to create within us through Christ. For all those tired of trying to make it on their own, this book helps guide its readers back into the arms of the only One who can sustain them and make them whole.

Stuart Briscoe, known for his logic and wit, has been preaching since he was just seventeen years old. In fact, he continues teaching the Bible on nearly every continent with his wife, Jill. Stuart served as senior pastor of Elmbrook Church for thirty years and, under his leadership, the church grew exponentially. Stuart's sermons are heard daily by an international audience through the media ministry, Telling the Truth. He has written more than forty books, received three honorary doctorates and is a popular speaker throughout the world.

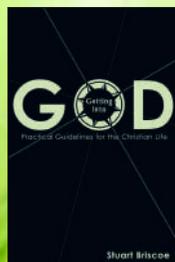

Stuart Briscoe is a master at finding the light switches, turning them on and exposing the life that is to be found in all Scripture.

David's Heart Devoted and Distracted

While no one needs to teach us how to be selfish, we must learn how to develop a servant heart. David's Heart looks at the life of David, a man both devoted and distracted throughout his life, to help readers delve deeper into what it means to have a heart for God. David's Heart seeks to help readers discern God's voice in their lives, and emphasizes a willingness to obey God's voice, rather than trying to obtain perfection.

Jake Taube has served as a planter of unregistered churches in mainland China since 2007, alongside his wife Stephanie and their two children. Their family works with Project China, a team of Baptist missionaries that speak Mandarin, develop new Chinese pastors, evangelize openly and plant multiple churches. One of Jake's greatest joys has been discipling his eight Chinese sons in the faith who are leading unregistered churches today. Jake chronicles his experiences in China and missions thoughts at gospelinchina.com.

Send Me, I'll Go

Letting the Mission Choose Your Direction

Send Me, I'll Go is the product of countless conversations with American students who have taken short-term mission trips to mainland China. Examining the call of the Great Commission, author Jake Taube explains how taking the gospel to the world is the responsibility and privilege of every child of God. This book is both a challenge and an encouragement, daring Christians to consider the question, "What part am I to play in the church's mission?" He emphasizes the need for proclamation of the good news of the gospel and not just good deeds. Readers will be compelled to consider what part they may play in reaching the "least reached" and giving their whole lives to do it.

Christopher R. Little, PhD, has over eighteen years of cross-cultural experience in which he has sought to advance God's mission in Africa, Europe and the Middle East. He is presently a professor of intercultural studies at Columbia International University where he equips others for Christian mission. He is the author of The Revelation of God Among the Unevangelized: An Evangelical Appraisal and Missiological Contribution to the Debate (William Carey Library, 2000), Mission in the Way of Paul: Biblical Mission for the Church in the Twenty-First Century (Peter Lang Publishing, 2005), and Polemic Missiology for the 21st Century: In Memoriam of Roland Allen (Amazon Kindle, 2013), as well as numerous articles on mission in various journals.

I am deeply grateful for this book as it will not only introduce the reader to this unique servant of God, but also to all that he championed during the course of his life. If more would simply emulate his character and live by his teachings, we would be better equipped to face the growing challenges of the twenty-first century.

It [worship] can be about depth and deep meaning or it can become about ambience and mood setting. It can divide generations and ethnic groups or it can bring us together. In the midst of so much distraction around "worship", John Kitchen has managed to write a powerful, unique and insightful book on worship by exegeting the psalms of Asaph. It isn't a worship book about music or styles or trends. Instead, through an interesting and well-written analysis of the life and psalms of this great worship leader, John manages to go deep into what the concept "leading a lifestyle of worship" really looks like.

E. Elbert Smith has directed IMB's field personnel orientation since 2004, after having served in Latin America and South Asia for thirteen years with his wife, Kay, and their children: Daniel, Katie and Carissa. Previously, Smith pastored in the United States for another thirteen years. Elbert and Kay met while attending Oklahoma Baptist University, after which he completed his MDiv and DMin from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and his PhD from Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Elbert Smith will be the first to tell you that there is nothing original about what he has written. After all, it has all been recorded in the book of Acts and proven effective through the centuries. But Smith's distillation of these truths, coupled with practical, doable application, creates a growing conviction of the necessity of practicing them today. After all, the Great Commission has yet to be fulfilled . . . and a lost world awaits the gospel.
